EMPLOYMENT

August 2012 - Present  Web Developer, Google
Worked as template developer for the Wildfire Pages App, building and maintaining over 25 different templates available for use in the public template gallery. Additionally developed and maintained the accompanying responsive CSS Framework used in each template, enabling rapid development of new templates, turning static templates into responsive ones, and reducing the overall number of files required for maintenance. As a result of my work, overall use of public templates increased and the number of bug reports decreased.

June 2011 - August 2011  Data Analyst, MerchantCircle LLC
Developed and implemented an algorithm used to predict the effective maximum number of how-to articles (called Expert Articles) that could be written on a variety of topics related to the businesses in MerchantCircle's network. The resulting deliverable was used by the Expert Articles team to track the progress towards reaching that limit.

Feb. 2010 - April 2011  Intern, Imaginary Feet LLC
Integrated Imaginary Feet's content management system, PageLime, with various WYSIWYG web editors, like Softpress' Freeway editor and MediaLab's Sitegrinder Photoshop plug-in. Marketed the company's apps through various projects, such as shooting and editing a movie documenting a 24 hour hackathon.

May 2010 - August 2010  Telephone Enumerator, US Census
Performed QA of work done by door-to-door enumerators by calling citizens interviewed by the enumerators and confirming the validity of the information collected. Also received additional training to record incoming census cases.

May 2009 - August 2010  Head Stuff Maker, Palo Alto Party Network
Built and maintained Palo Alto Party Network's entire online presence, which included: a website, social media, and an online ticket purchasing portal.
